KUCHS FIRM HERE 34 YEARS, ENDS

MARYVILLE BOTTLING WORKS CLOSES TOMORROW MIDNIGHT.

WHOLESALE BEER HOUSE SAME SITE 40 YEARS

Old Building First Stood Where Farmers Trust Building is Now Being Built.

Paul Richard Kuchs will close his business in the Maryville Bottling Works tomorrow night at midnight, just thirty-four years and two months to the day since he bought out with Peter Quast the wholesale liquor business of Peter Gross.

Their federal license expires at that time and as the city license which expires the night of the fourth of July cannot be renewed, the firm cannot afford to pay for another government permit in order to run three days.

The wholesale beer house has been doing a really wholesale business during the last week. Cars are lined up sometimes two and three deep in front and the firm was out of beer this morning. A sufficient supply to last through tomorrow was received today from St. Joseph.

The building in which the business has been conducted for two score years was moved to the present site on the corner of Fourth and Buchanan streets in 1874. It had previously stood at the corner of Fourth and Main streets where the new Farmers Trust Company building is being constructed.

The old building was built about 1870 by Valentine and Adam Stephan for the Stephan Brothers Furniture company. Three or four years later, Baker, Saunders and company bought the site for the new bank building which was recently torn down to make way for the new structure.

Was Saloon for Several Years.

Stephan Bros. never ran a furniture store on the new site but built the brick building which stands west of the Farmers Trust site and placed their furniture business there. A saloon and pool hall was run for several years in the old building by John Reitel.

Peter Gross bought the business and made it a wholesale liquor house. The German Turn-Verein met in the second story and had their hall there for dances and other social times. About ten years later, the business was made wholesale beer only.

Peter Quast, who bought the business with Richard Kuchs, died within a few years but the firm name remained Kuchs and Quast for several years longer, several daughters of Mr. Quast retaining an interest. About twelve years ago the firm passed entirely into the control of Mr. Kuchs.

Although the elder Kuchs has always maintained an active interest in the business, much of the active charge of the firm has passed in recent years into the hands of his two sons, Paul and Albert. Charles Irwin, driver, and Hatch Ellsworth are the two employees of the firm.

No plans are made for any disposition of the building after tomorrow night. It will take several weeks to remove all the empties and close up the business. Richard Kuchs said this morning that he had no intention of destroying the building as a strong sentiment had grown around the structure in which he had been in business continuously for thirty-four years.

The elder Kuchs owns the Empire Theatre building and his son, Albert Kuchs, is manager of the show house. Mr. Kuchs is also president of the Maryville Electric Light and Power company, a stockholder in the Farmers Trust company. He also has extensive real estate and building property in Maryville.

Wheels Dropped Off Car of Osmond Mosby at Hopkins as He Left Home.

Last Saturday evening, Osmond Mosby, just south of town, drove his car from his garage to in front of his home, when one of the front wheels dropped off. By investigation he soon discovered that some one had broken into his garage by prying open a window, and had stolen all the tools belonging to the car, as well as the chains, four inner tubes, five gallons of lubricating oil and the big spedometer cag on the car.

Some of the ball bearings and other parts of the wheels were taken. No trace has as yet been discovered to indicate the identity of the thieves, and Mr. Mosby is offering a reward of ten dollars to any one giving information that will lead to their arrest.—Hopkins Journal.

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Wilfley of Los Angeles, Cal., arrived in Maryville yesterday on a motor trip from California to Missouri and return. They visited with the family of George L. Wilfley, a brother of Mr. Wilfley. The California man had not been in Maryville for eighteen years.

They two are making the trip in a Pathfinder car. They left this morning for St. Joseph, Kansas City and Joplin, which they will visit on the return trip.

UP TO 91 DEGREES TODAY.

Official Reading of Thermometer at 1 o'Clock This Afternoon.

The first really hot day of the summer arrived today, and all sweltered but smiled as the farmers put up hay and watched their corn grow. The official reading of the thermometer at 1 o'clock today was 91 degrees above, according to J. R. Brink.

To Camp on Platte River.

Halley Ford, Orlo Quinn and Harry Kissinger left yesterday for the Platte River country to camp for three weeks. Mrs. J. D. Ford, Mrs. Flora Quinn and Miss Elva Heflin will leave Sunday evening for the scene of the camp and spend a few days with the boys.

BOX OF SHEER JOY!

WOMEN OF CHRISTIAN CHURCH FIRST TO REMEMBER BAND.

IT RECALLS OTHER DAYS

Mrs. J. T. Karr, One of the Contributors, Tells of Time Spent in Kitchen Over Fifty Years Ago.

Twenty-eight Maryville soldier boys who are getting just a little tired of the "hard tack" diet of camp life and are longing for the cakes and cookies that mother used to make, will have their first taste of home joy today when the box sent by the Maryville women, under the leadership of the women of the Christian church, arrives in camp.

And O, there were such good things in that box! It was just simply jammed with sweet-smelling cookies that just made your mouth water to look at them; with cakes that would have made Jack Frost green with envy—so well was the job of frosting done. And then the candy—just the kind that sisters make for their brothers and girlies make for their sweethearts.

Besides, there was fruit and jelly. The only thing lacking in that box was bread, and most likely the women didn't think that a loaf of golden brown bread not twenty-four hours old would be as sweet as any cake to the taste of the boys in khaki.

Brought Back Old Times.

Mrs. J. T. Karr, when asked to donate her share to the box, said:

"I will be glad to do this in remembrance of my girlhood days. A little over fifty years ago I was busy in my mother's kitchen making cookies for the boys of the civil war. There was a regiment made up of the men from in and around Salem, Ill., and they were encamped just outside of Salem, Ill., within eight miles from my home."

"And the way we used to cook for those boys! All of the women for miles around came bringing everything necessary for a big dinner, and we young girls served it. I thought—in fact, I was pretty sure at that time—that I had a sweetheart in that regiment, and not one of the girls was more eager with the donation than I was."

German Socialist Leader Guilty of Treason for Peace Work—Other European War News.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

London, June 29.—Sir Roger Casement was found guilty of high treason and sentenced to death. The famous Irish rebel stood up bravely under the blow. He evidently had entertained little hope from the beginning.

Casement was captured just before the outbreak of the Irish revolution recently attempting to land a force in Ireland with arms and ammunition. He was assisted by German submarines.

Demonstration for Dr. Liebknecht.

Berlin, June 29.—Despite all the efforts of the Berlin police to prevent it, a huge demonstration of socialists was held in the streets today in favor of Dr. Karl Liebknecht, reichstag leader who was sentenced to thirty months in prison for high treason last night.

Liebknecht was found guilty of instigating and taking part in a peace demonstration in Berlin recently. He also resisted arrest. Parliamentary immunity was denied to him.

More Italian Steamers Sent Down.

Madrid, Spain, June 29.—Three more Italian steamers have been sunk in the Mediterranean by submarines. They were the Mongibel of 4,100 tons, the Roma of 3,900 tons and the Pino of 1,700 tons displacement. The crews of all three were landed here safely today.

Austrians Bombard Italian Coast.

Vienna, June 9.—The admiralty announces that the Italian coast near Guilcanuova has been bombarded by Austrian torpedo boats. An Italian aeroplane was brought down.

German Drives at Verdun Fail.

Paris, June 29.—An attempt last night by the Germans to extend their positions in the region of the Thiasumont wood, northeast of Verdun, resulted in failure, according to the report of the war office.

The strong German attacks in that section broke down under the gruelling fire of the French guns. Heavy bombardment was under way all night on both sides of the Meuse.

British Attacks Repulsed.

Berlin, June 29.—Attacks by the British on the northern end of the west front were repulsed, the German war office announced today. On the eastern front the Russian positions on the Nieman river were stormed by the Germans.

GETTING READY TO GIVE

CORDIAL RESPONSE TO URGING FOR BAND REMEMBRANCES.

Edison Concert by Ed Rea Will Start at 6:30 With Concert at 7 for Sunday Gift Night.

Responses to personal solicitation for the gift night for the Fourth Regiment band, with a free concert by the Maryville band, for next Sunday night at 7 o'clock, indicate that something worthy of Maryville will be done at that time. Between now and that time every club, society and organization will be personally asked to participate.

In case a very large amount of edibles are received, some of the fruit and other gifts which are not perishable may be held until a later date, and a second gift box sent. It is probable also that the money will be held for a week or more and then sent.

Other Gifts Beside Edibles.

Many have been asking what else beside good things to eat can be given. Nothing more popular can be sent than home-made cookies, cakes and candy, but several other things are acceptable. A Kansas City company wrote asking that base ball paraphernalia be sent, as they were not able to bring them to camp and they are inaccessible to buy.

Several regimental chaplains have written back asking that testaments, small Bibles and hymn books be sent. One of the greatest of gifts to the men is mail from home. An organized effort will probably be made to give the fellows a postcard shower or to start a "stream" of mail to the Maryville militiamen.

RECITAL IS MUCH ENJOYED

Normal Students Pleased by Program Given by Faculty of Conservatory Today.

The recital given by the Conservatory faculty at the Normal this morning was thoroughly enjoyed, both by the students and the numerous visitors who were present. All the numbers were well rendered and heartily applauded. Special interest was shown in the numbers played by Mr. Hakel, the violinist. The art song, "Night and Dawn," by Platzman, sung by Miss Garrett, with violin obligato, was particularly beautiful. The Polonaise Op. 53, from Chopin, played by Miss Rice, elicited the most hearty appiause. H. B. Schuler gave a short description of the symphonic poem "Les Preludes," which made its rendition by Misses Airy and Rice especially interesting.

Dawson Spoke at Stanberry.

MEXICAN AFFAIR MUCH LESS ACUTE

RELEASE OF PRISONERS BY CARRANZA RELIEVES SITUATION.

CARRIZAL MEN NOW SAFE ACROSS BORDER

De Facto President Must Now Clear Up Position on Other Issues to Insure Peace.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Washington, June 29.—With the immediate crisis caused by the taking of American prisoners relieved by their release, the general Mexican situation was much less acute today.

Carranza's attitude toward the U. S. troops remaining in Mexico, his willingness to co-operate against Villa and to punish the officers who permitted the unwarranted attack at Carrizal are the troublesome features remaining between the two governments.

A dispatch from El Paso says that the prisoners arrived safely in Juarez at noon today. They will be delivered to the American authorities this afternoon some time.

Official Diplomatic Notice Given.

Washington, June 29.—Consul General Rodgers, in Mexico City, has been informed that Carranza has officially ordered the release of the Carrizal prisoners.

The state department received official confirmation of the looting by Carranza soldiers of the American consulate at Nogales.

Late yesterday afternoon it was announced from the commandancia in Juarez that a message had been transmitted over the Mexican telegraph which stated that the twenty-three negroes of the Tenth cavalry captured at Carrizal, with Lem H. Spillsbury, Mormon scout, had been removed from prison.

The message added that the men, with their arms and accoutrements, under heavy guard, had been placed on a Mexican Central train bound for Juarez, where they expected to arrive tomorrow morning.

The telegram conveying this news was addressed to Brig. Gen. George Bell, jr., commander of the El Paso base. It was signed by Gen. Jacinto Trevino, commander of the Mexican military district of the northeast, whose headquarters are at Chihuahua City.

The first official report to reach the war department regarding the release of the prisoners came from Geneal General Funston today. It confirmed the press dispatches. The looked-for reply from Carranza to the demands of the United States will be made public through the proper diplomatic circles. His attitude toward the expedition has not yet reached the state department.

Military Honors for Dead.

Military honors and burial at Arlington cemetery will be accorded the negro troops of the Tenth under a resolution introduced in the house by Representative Johnson of Washington.

JUDGE NORTONI WITHDRAWS SENATORIAL CANDIDACY.

URGES OTHERS TO DO SO

Tennessee National Committee Scores T. R. Roundly for Betraying His Party.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

St. Louis, June 29.—Judge Albert D. Nortoni, Progressive candidate for United States senator from Missouri, has announced his withdrawal as a candidate, and in a letter to the other Progressive state candidates has asked that they do likewise. Judge Nortoni attended the meeting of the Progressive national committee in Chicago Monday, at which Charles E. Hughes, the Republican nominee, was indorsed, tells his fellow Progressive candidates that "the Progressive party has passed from the stage as an active force in politics."

Can't Run as State Organization.

His withdrawal letter says in part:

"I have done all I could to keep the party and its organization intact with a view of continuing the influence for good, at least on other political organizations. At the national committee meeting in Chicago, Monday last, a number of us co-operating together urged the nomination of Victor Murdock for president, so that we might have a national ticket in which we believe and in aid of which we could vote for our principles.

"It is useless to endeavor to pursue the fight here without a candidate for president, with a majority of the national committee engaged in co-operating against us. While Mr. Hughes was not nominated by the Progressive committee and therefore is not the candidate of our party, he was indorsed by a majority of that body, and of course this means that they will control the committee so far as that goes in favor of his candidacy. In these circumstances the burden of carrying on a state campaign, not only without the sympathy but against the pronounced purpose of the national organization, is so extraordinary in character as to render it well nigh an impossible task.

Nothing to Do Except Go Back.

"It would seem, therefore, that there is nothing for us to do save to individually choose our places as we see fit whereby we may perform the functions of a citizen and give expression to our views as best we may and permit those who affiliated with us to do likewise. In this view I have concluded that it is best for all of us to withdraw from the state ticket at once—that is, before the primary ballot is printed, which will probably be next week."

Tennessee Scores Roosevelt.

Nashville, Tenn., June 29.—Former Rep. John C. Houk, chairman of the state Progressive committee, recently announced that he had sent a message to Theodore Roosevelt scoring him for his willingness to "humiliate Progressives" and to "destroy the party which you told us to organize." The telegram in part says:

"Four years ago I was overwhelmingly elected as a Republican Roosevelt delegate to the Chicago convention. I was barred from this convention by a policeman's club. An East Tennessee Progressive cannot understand that 'higher Americanism' which would justify you in turning your back on the 4,000,000 men you led on principle into a new party from the party of their fathers.

"Are you willing to humiliate the Progressives who have followed you and our new party's principles with devotion and destroy the party you told us to organize? As I understand it, those who stand at Armageddon and battle for the Lord, battle unto the death.

"Personally I would about as soon see a Democratic president as a Republican president picked by the men who robbed you and your followers, in the hope that they might continue invisible government.

"Don't let the ship be submarined. Don't weaken the faith of the south in Progressivism."

HUGHES HAS BIG SCAR

Accident Marred One Cheek, So Beard Was Allowed to Do Kindly Service.

One of the elements which have supported the popular conception of Hughes' aloofness and austerity is his beard. In a day when beards are the exception rather than the rule, the common mind cannot imagine that a man with Hughes smiles as often and laughs as heartily in every day life as any other American.

The truth about the Hughes beard robs it of all its terrors. Years ago in youth, Hughes figured in a runaway accident. He recovered completely, but a long scar on his cheek remained. Soon after that the beard appeared—and it has been doing its kindly duty ever since.—Detroit News.

Federal Inquiry or Railroad Strike?

Faced by demands from the conductors, engineers, firemen and brakemen that would impose on the country an additional burden in transportation costs of $100,000,000 a year, the railroads propose that this wage problem be settled by reference to an impartial Federal tribunal.

With these employes, whose efficient service is acknowledged, the railroads have no differences that could not be considered fairly and decided justly by such a public body.

Railroads Urge Public Inquiry and Arbitration

The formal proposal of the railroads to the employes for the settlement of the controversy is as follows:

"Our conferences have demonstrated that we cannot harmonize our differences of opinion, and that eventually the matters in controversy must be passed upon by other and disinterested agencies. Therefore, we propose that your proposals and the proposition of the railways be disposed of by one or the other of the following methods:

1. Preferably by submission to the Interstate Commerce Commission, the only tribunal which, by reason of its accumulated information bearing on railway conditions and its control of the revenue of the railways, is in a position to consider and protect the rights and equities of all the interests affected, and to provide additional revenue necessary to meet the added cost of operation in case your proposals are found by the Commission to be just and reasonable; or, in the event the Interstate Commerce Commission cannot, under existing laws, act in the premises, that we jointly request Congress to take such action as may be necessary to enable the Commission to consider and promptly dispose of the questions involved: or

2. By arbitration in accordance with the provisions of the Federal law" (The Newlands Act).

Leaders Refuse Offer and Take Strike Vote

Leaders of the train service brotherhoods, at the joint conference held in New York, June 1-15, refused the offer of the railroads to submit the issue to arbitration or Federal review, and the employes are now voting on the question whether authority shall be given these leaders to declare a nation-wide strike.

The Interstate Commerce Commission is proposed by the railroads as the public body to which this issue ought to be referred for these reasons:

No other body with such an intimate knowledge of railroad conditions has such an unquestioned position in the public confidence.

The rates the railroads may charge the public for transportation are now largely fixed by this Government board.

Out of every dollar received by the railroads from the public nearly one-half is paid directly to the employes as wages; and the money to pay increased wages can come from no other source than the rates paid by the public.

The Interstate Commerce Commission, with its control over rates, is in a position to make a complete investigation and render such decision as would protect the interests of the railroad employes, the owners of the railroads, and the public.

A Question For the Public to Decide

The railroads feel that they have no right to grant a wage preferment of $100,000,000 a year to these employes, now highly paid and constituting only one-fifth of all the employes, without a clear mandate from a public tribunal that shall determine the merits of the case after a review of all the facts.

The single issue before the country is whether this controversy is to be settled by an impartial Government inquiry or by industrial warfare.

HUGHES APPOINTS WILLCOX

Former N. Y. Postmaster Heads Republican Campaign Committee—Chairman Public Service Body.

Special to the Democrat-Forum.

New York, June 29.—Developments at the temporary headquarters here of Charles E. Hughes ranged yesterday from ratification by the national sub-committee on organization, of the nominee's choice of William R. Willcox, as chairman of the Republican national committee, to the announcement that Theodore Roosevelt had accepted an invitation to dine with Hughes tomorrow night.

Willcox, lawyer, former postmaster of New York, and, until 1913, chairman of the public service commission of New York, is a personal and political friend of the nominee. His selection results from Hughes' desire to have as chairman a resident of New York, known to him personally, a man somewhat removed from recent political developments, not allied with any faction of the party, and acceptable to Republicans and Progressives alike.

FARMERS NOW OPTIMISTIC.

S. L. Stutesman of Parnell Says Corn is Good.

"Farmers of my vicinity are feeling pretty good in regard to prospects for the corn crop," said S. L. Stutesman, a well known stockman of Parnell, Mo., who was in today with a load of hogs of his own raising. "Up until two weeks ago the prospects for the crop were poor, but from then until the present time the weather has been fine for the growing corn and it has made rapid progress. The crop will be late but I believe if nothing happens, the yield will be about as large as usual."—St. Joseph Daily Stock Yards Journal.

NEWS FROM ALL Northwest Missouri

Howard Mills, editor of the Mound City News-Jeffersonian, has twin boys. His brother, Dr. Mills, of Grant City, suggested that the young Republicans be called Hughesvelt and Roosebanks.

Liberty Baptists are planning to erect a new parsonage this summer. They expect to spend $7,000 for this purpose, but when their plans were submitted to contractors last week the lowest bid was $8,300.

Because his wife was too timid to stay alone at night, Earl Ruby of Bethany went to the hardware store and purchased an automatic revolver, says the Bethany Republican. After explaining to her the manner of loading it, he laid it on the table. A few minutes later he picked up the weapon, saying that he had forgotten to show her how to shoot it, and in his effort to demonstrate its workings he accidentally discharged it and the ball entered his wife's breast, and she is now in a very critical condition.

A correspondent of the Mound City News-Jeffersonian states that recently there were twenty automobiles waiting at one time to be taken across the Missouri river at the ferry near Fortesque.

W. R. Littell of Tarkio, a state senatorial candidate, is captain of Company A, which left Tarkio for the federal camps last week. A Holt county candidate for representative, C. E. Munn, is another who has answered the call, going as first lieutenant of Company L from Mound City.

This is a favorable season for stories of large fruit and vegetables. The Worth County Times declares that a local man grew strawberries as large as pumpkins grow in Kansas. The Unionville Republican tells of a stalk of rhubarb 30 inches high with a leaf as big as an umbrella. The Richmond Missourian says that John Rainwater of Knoxville brought to their office a specimen of alfalfa seven and a half feet tall, and that John Spaniol of near Richmond has brought for similar exhibition a head of lettuce that measures 43 inches in circumference.

An Austrian tramp, giving his name as Joseph Schmidt, is in jail at Richmond for stealing a purse and $7.23 from a farm house near Hardin. When caught with the goods he confessed the crime. When asked which he preferred, thirty days in jail or deportation back to Austria, he quickly answered, "I had rather serve 30 years than be sent back to Europe. To hell mit the kaiser."

Several papers warn against swindlers and beggars who seem to be rather numerous just now. The Hopkins Journal tells of a lady peddler who is traveling about selling some wonderful toilet soap, three bars for a quarter, and when her supply runs out she simply goes to the local stores and stocks up again at five cents a bar. The Higginsville Jeffersonian tells of a spectacular peddler who has almost hypnotic power. He called on a Higginsville man the other day—a man who has had a great deal of trouble with his eyes—and seemed to know all about the trouble and professed to have been sent by a friend. He produced a pair of spectacles designed especially to overcome his customer's trouble and sold them to him for $150. To a Lexington woman he sold a similar pair of glasses for $300. Solicitors for bogus causes are also making the rounds. In nearly every town there are ordinances that provide for such fakers; when they appear at your door, phone your city authorities at once.

Will Bowman, who at one previous time owned and edited the King City Democrat for several years, has recently bought that paper again and is now in active charge with the assistance of his son, Louis.

Liberty has chosen September 28, 29 and 30 as the dates for its second annual home products show. The event last year is said to have been better than most county fairs.

Don't light a match if your hands are saturated with gasoline. Last week Bruce Farnsworth, blacksmith at Irena, was scuffling with a friend. His hands were covered with gasoline and his companion thoughtlessly touched a match to them. The skin and a considerable part of the flesh was burned from the right hand, says the Worth County Times, and Farnsworth is now in a Grant City hospital.

A Kirksville boy was sent to warn hunters to leave premises upon which they were trespassing. The two hunters, unknown men, became angered by the boy's request and bound him hand and foot and placed him on the tracks of the Wabash railroad. Though unable to free his hands or feet, the plucky boy squirmed until he rolled off the grade. Two hours later he was found by section men and set free.

The Gallatin Y. M. C. A. raised $1,500 last week for the annual budget to carry on the work of the association. Four teams did the work of soliciting and met each day for dinner at the Y. M. C. A. building to report progress.

William J. Beale and Miss Nancy Clemmens were married at Whitesville fifty years ago on June 14, and are still happily wed and contented residents of Andrew county.

The 94th birthday of a Savannah man, J. C. Gilmore, was celebrated last week. He had been a resident of Andrew county for 50 years and there are houses in that county whose walls still bear the plaster which he mixed and applied the first years of his residence there. "An Irish immigrant in '33, a California gold miner in '49, a marshal in early mining camps, a business man of Savannah in its infancy and for many years a successful tiller of the soil—his life has been one of constant activity," says the Savannah Reporter.

The Newton Chronicle tells of a turkey gobbler that now insists on hovering part of the brood of 20 young turks. It all started during a recent storm. A part of the brood got lost and the turkey hen and her owner both supposed them dead until the old gobbler was found hovering the lost poults in a field. Since he rescued the little ones he has refused to give them up and persists in hovering them each night.

The Hopkins Journal mentions Geo. Swaney of Pickering as one stock buyer who neither swears nor drinks. The Journal says: "While it is different now, not many years ago it was taken for granted that to be a successful buyer and shipper of stock, it was absolutely necessary for a man to have a rich flow of "adjectives" at his command as well as to have a capacity to consume an abnormal amount of tanglefoot whisky."

Petitions for the paving of portions of five streets in Albany were presented and passed at the meeting of the city council last Monday evening.

A recent issue of the Railroad Age Gazette names as one of the two greatest operating needs of the Rock Island railway the building of a new line from Cameron to Kansas City. With the reorganization of the railway interests there is now good reason to hope that this line will soon be built.

From the north line of the state comes another egg story. A Lineville boy wrote his address on an egg April 15, 1915. Only recently he received a letter from a boy in England saying that the egg was one of eight "newly laid" eggs that his father that day bought at the grocer's for 24 cents—a shillin'.

Four miles without gasoline is the record made by an Oakland car between Excelsior Springs and Richmond. The driver, Harry Roark, started home from the Springs, lost his gasoline tank and went four miles before he missed it. The Richmond Missourian thinks he must have had a pretty good start to go that far on momentum.

Last Friday night about 11 o'clock, a citizen of the county driving along the road south of Darlington, found a big St. Joseph auto moving van stuck in a mud hole, and five or six barrels of whisky piled out by the roadside. Driving on into town, the Darlington man called up one or two of his neighbors, and they phoned to Sheriff Ross and Prosecuting Attorney Reeves, who went down, and, after the big van had been pulled out of the mud hole and the booze reloaded, ordered it driven into Albany, arriving here after daylight. A man giving the name of C. O. Buzzard, and who claimed to be a druggist at Ridgeway, was in charge of the booze. He stated that he bought the stuff in St. Joseph and had hired the big van to haul it to Ridgeway, intending to use the booze for filling prescriptions in his business there. On looking up the law, Prosecutor Reeves could only find four counts on which action can be brought against violators of the local option law in Missouri. These are: Selling liquor, keeping liquor for another, delivering liquor to another. As the Ridgeway druggist could not be convicted in Gentry county on any of these counts, Prosecutor Reeves phoned to the prosecuting attorney of Harrison county, telling him that Buzzard and his booze were here; that they were headed for Harrison county, and asking him if he wanted to hold him. After taking an hour or so to look up the law, however, the Harrison county prosecutor phoned that he knew of no charge upon which he could hold the man and the van, and so they were turned loose. After studying over the matter for a time, however, Buzzard seems to have decided that he did not need all that booze in his prescription filling at the Ridgeway drug store, and the last seen of the big van it was headed in the direction of St. Joseph.—Albany Capital.

ELECTING A PRESIDENT 5

MONROE.

Monroe Triumphed Over Rufus King In 1816.

THE Republicans were again victorious in 1816. They nominated James Monroe of Virginia, with Daniel D. Tompkins of New York as his running mate. The Federalists supported Rufus King of New York, but had no candidate for vice president that year. The election took place on Nov. 5, and the vote, counted the following February, was: Monroe, 183; King, 34.

The election of 1820 had but one candidate, Monroe and Tompkins having no opposition. All of the electors chosen in the presidential election except one voted for Monroe. Twenty-three states voted that year, but there is no record of the popular vote.

What T. R. Asserted in 1913; Stand He Took Monday

Speaking at a dinner tendered by national Progressives on the eve of his departure for South America, October 3, 1913, his "farewell address," Colonel Roosevelt declared:

"The party is solid, and it is the firm determination of the rank and file no less than the leaders to preserve its political entity, its solidity and integrity." * * *

"Men and women, I would continue the fight even if I stood entirely alone. I shall continue it with a glad and proud heart, because it is made in your company." * * *

Win or lose, whatever the outcome, I am with you, and I am for this cause to fight to the end. We are dedicated in this great war for righteousness, and while life lasts we cannot and we will not abandon it. * * *

The men who believe that we will ever betray these ideals or abandon the task to which we have set ourselves do not know us and cannot ever guess at the faith that inspires us. * * *

This movement will never go back, and whatever may betide in the future, of one thing the disciplines of an easy opportunism may rest assured—I will never abandon the principles to which we Progressives have pledged ourselves, and I will never abandon the men and women who drew around me to battle for those principles.* * *

1916

In his message declining the Progressive nomination for president yesterday, Col. Roosevelt declared:

Our loyalty is to the fact * * * not merely to the name and, least of all, to the party name.

Yet it has become entirely evident that the people under existing conditions are not prepared to accept a new party.

The Progressive national organization no longer offers the means whereby we can make the convictions effective in our national life. Under such circumstances our duty is to do the best we can and not to sulk because our leadership is rejected.

Under existing conditions the nomination of a third ticket would in my judgment be merely a move in the interest of the election of Mr. Wilson. * * * I shall therefore strongly support Mr. Hughes. * * * I cannot accept the nomination of a third ticket. I do not believe that there should be a third ticket.

Without any regard as to what the personal feelings of any of us may be as regards the action of the Republican convention, I wish very solemnly to ask the representatives of the Progressive party to consider at this time only the welfare of the people of the United States.

I earnestly bespeak from my fellow Progressives their ungrudging support of Mr. Hughes.

EX-GOVERNOR MALCOLM R. PATTERSON.

ONE of the biggest men in the United States is Malcolm R. Patterson of Tennessee. He is a giant among thinkers and a whirlwind force in big reform movements. He began to impress himself forcibly upon the nation while serving as governor of Tennessee, and since the close of his official career he has traveled all over the United States in one of the most wonderful reform campaigns ever launched. He is a forceful and pleasing orator and will speak at our Chautauqua on the subject, "The Mind of the Nation."

One on Bernard Shaw.

It is not often that George Bernard Shaw is worsted in an argument, but on one occasion at least he met his match. He was at a dinner party when a young lady guest professed to be able to read character from writing. "G. B. S." scouted the idea. Now, it so happened that their host had just got a typewriter, and Mr. Shaw remarked that here at least was one kind of writing that would reveal nothing of a person's character. The young lady stood by her guns and declared that she could even read character from type as well as from handwriting, whereupon the famous dramatist challenged her to try.

Picking out his letters one by one on the machine, he wrote his name; but, as he was not used to handling a typewriter, when he had finished it read like this, "BERNARD shaw."

"Your character is as plain as day," said the young lady triumphantly. "It is your idea that, although there a good many Shaws in the world, they are an undistinguished lot. But you think that you alone are Bernard and your name is great."

After that "G. B. S." admitted himself beaten.

Independence.

To catch Dame Fortune's golden smile,
Assiduous wait upon her,
And gather gear by ev'ry wile
That's justified by honor,
Not for to hide it in a hedge,
Nor for a train attendant,
But for the glorious privilege
O' being independent.

—Robert Burns.

Responsibility.

Mrs. Edgerton always impressed upon her little daughter Bessie that when she was naughty it was Satan who made her so.

One day Bessie was particularly naughty, and finally there was considerable disturbance in the nursery, with much stamping of tiny feet and derangement of the furniture. Mrs. Edgerton hastened to learn the cause of the noise.

"Why, Bessie," cried the mother, "what does this mean?"

"Oh," replied Bessie, "I s'pose it's your old friend Satan again!"—Harper's Magazine.

Sydney Smith's Wit.

Sydney Smith was the ministerial wit par excellence, but unhappily his jests were so admirable that they are now twice told tales indeed. However, most of them will bear repetition.

Before the first bishop of New Zealand left England Sydney Smith strove to remind him of the dangers of his mission. "You will find in preaching to cannibals," he said, "that their attention will not be directed to the spirit, but always be concentrated on the flesh, for I am told that they never breakfast without a cold missionary on the sideboard. We shall never meet again, but let us hope that you may thoroughly disagree with the savage who eats you."

"You are afraid of me," said Smith to a young woman who sat beside him at dinner. "You crumble your bread, and that is an undeniable proof of shyness. I do it when I sit by the bishop of London and with both hands when I sit by the archbishop."

"Why are you doing that?" said he to a child who was stroking the shell of a turtle. "Oh, to please the turtle," was the answer. "Why, child, you might as well stroke the dome of St. Paul's to please the dean and chapter."

A Leap Year Warning.

Here is sound leap year advice from the files of a pioneer western newspaper published half a century or more ago:

"When you are sitting in the parlor alone with a young lady and she works her chair close to yours, looks dreamy and sentimental and sighs as she raises her eyes to yours, don't get confused and blush and move away. Just sit right still and chew the corner of your handkerchief and wait. You're in no danger.

"But if she leads you to a sofa, sits down by you, takes your hand in hers, or, rather, between hers, looks up into your face with a firm yet resolute expression and gently whispers it is leap year and business is business, you had better prepare to get out of the way unless you think so too."

That Was Enough.

The colored porter in a Richmond store became very much excited over the stories of big wages being paid at a powder plant. One noon he notified his employer that we going to quit portering and look for a job in the powder works. Next morning when the employer came to the store and found Sam sweeping and dusting as usual he inquired:

"Sam, I thought you were going to get a powder house job and make big wages."

"Naw, suh, Ah done change mah mind. Ah goin' stay right yere an' wuk whe'h Ah b'longs."

"What was the matter—didn't they offer you a job?"

"Yassuh, dey done offer me a job an' fi' dollahs a day de fust time Ah inquire."

"Well, why didn't you stay?"

"Boss, 'twas a white gemman dar, an' he took a paper an' pen, an' he look eveh he specs, an' he say to me, 'What am yo' name?' Ah done tol' him mah name, an' he say, 'Whe'h does yo' want yo' body sent in case ob accident?' Ah say, 'Ef hit's jes' de same to yo', suh, Ah'll tote hit back home maself.' An' he'ah Ah is."—Exchange.

WORKERS' FRIEND TO LECTURE HERE

George L. McNutt, Whose Peculiar Experiences Taught Him Wisdom.

TO TELL HIS STORY HERE.

Was on Redpath-Vawter Circuit Ten Years Ago and Comes Back.

Ten years ago, when Keith Vawter began the operation of Chautauquas, he engaged George L. McNutt as one of the attractions for his first circuit program. He chose him then because of his sterling worth as a lecturer and has ever since had a desire to get him again.

This season Mr. Vawter was fortunate enough to secure McNutt and grabbed him up in a hurry. It is appropriate that there should appear on the tenth anniversary program one of the attractions of Vawter's first season.

McNutt has grown stronger and more popular as the years have gone by. He still talks about the dinner pail, but he has sounded the depths of the human heart in ten years of labor and research among those who work with their hands.

The action of this preacher, laying aside his Prince Albert, substituting overalls and jumper and taking up the hard manual toil of the laborer in order to study his problems at close range, gives a peculiar charm to McNutt's message.

Hopkins Women
Give a $2 Dinner.

A two-dollar dinner, meaning that the entire menu cost but this amount, was served last Thursday by Mrs. Hebron Sturgeon to the members of the ladies of the Baptist Aid society, and it is really surprising what a fine dinner the ladies enjoyed—it being stipulated that $2 was the limit to be spent in getting it up, but by using good judgment and being such a fine cook, Mrs. Sturgeon served a two-course dinner that might be truthfully called elaborate.

Her home, too, looked so pretty, the receiving rooms being decorated with many of the season's most beautiful flowers. The dining table was centered with a large bouquet of sweet peas, pansies and roses, giving a most charming effect. The ladies gave an all-day quilting at the church on this date, and after the repast returned to the church to finish their work. Members present were Mrs. O. C. Barnes, Mrs. Geo. Applegate, Mrs. Will Fine, Mrs. C. Kivett, Mrs. Jack Gray, Mrs. R. Filson, Mrs. John Noles, Mrs. Will Pettyjohn, Mrs. Will Demott, Mrs. J. King, Mrs. D. W. Griffith, Mrs. Fred Gray, Mrs Oliver Young and Mrs. Mell Powell.

The visitors present were Mrs. Dakins of Ohio, Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, Mrs. Sam Stringer, Mrs. Harry Clutter, Mrs. J. C. Pistole, Mrs. R. Ball, Mrs. Will King, Miss Mary Kivett, Mrs. Tom Applegate and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Hebron Sturgeon. Eight dollars was realized from the dinner.

Mrs. D. W. Griffith read a poem entitled "The Ladies' Aid," which was very much enjoyed by all present, and which will be found elsewhere in this issue of the Journal.—Hopkins Journal.

C. C. Mitchell Will Tell Chautauquans Wonderful Story of Old Time.

A Fascinating Study of the World's Most Ancient Drama—Full of Sublime Interest For All.

This man, C. C. Mitchell, is coming to Chautauqua to tell about a bombshell he found in a nutshell. He is a professional lecturer and has delivered his message successfully in forty states of the Union.

He will probably deliver at our Chautauquas his great lecture, "The Story of an Ash Heap." This is a modernized and popularized edition of the world's most ancient drama. He has delivered this lecture over 400 times, and it is considered by many his masterpiece.

Mitchell is not very big physically, but he is a whirlwind on the platform. He has a perfect mastery of subject and audience. Like twin currents, humor and pathos run through his lectures. He is a master of epigramatic phrases. He talks plain United States, and everybody can readily understand and appreciate him.

Mitchell loves the platform for the good he can do. He pours his whole soul into it too. He is interesting from the first word and carries his audience to his climaxes with naturalness and perfect ease. He is a born orator and deserves a tent full of listeners.

FORD'S SON TO MARRY

ENGAGEMENT OF MISS ELEANOR CLAY ANNOUNCED.

Edsel B. Ford is 22 Years Old and Has Worked Up Through All Parts of the Factory.

The engagement of Miss Eleanor Clay, daughter of Mrs. William Clay, to Edsel B. Ford, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford, is announced by Mrs. Clay.

Miss Clay made her betrothal known to some of her friends. Miss Clay was graduated this month from the Liggett school.

Edsel B. Ford is 22 years old. He has been closely associated with his father's enterprises; in fact, the tractor plant at Dearborn bears the name of Henry Ford & Son.

The younger Mr. Ford has learned the motor car business department by department. He has worked in the shops and offices like any other employee.

When Henry Ford went abroad on his peace expedition, he gave striking proof of his confidence in the young man's ability and knowledge. He gave Edsel Ford power of attorney to act for him.

The son quietly took hold of the great trust and quietly relinquished it again when his father returned. Quietness, steady thoroughness, are characteristic of Edsel Ford.

Young Mr. Ford is fond of long motor car tours. He made one long journey to the Pacific coast.

In general, his interest in mechanics and in outdoor life are like those of his father, and he shares the home tastes of his mother.

The day of the marriage has not been fixed.—Detroit Journal.

Stanberry is to have a Fourth of July celebration under the auspices of the Loyal Order of Moose lodge of that place.

May.

May is not named after Maia, the mother of Mercury, but from an old word, "mah," meaning "to grow."

Vegetation.

By far the greater portion of the earth's land surface is covered with growing vegetation.

10,000 BEES LOOSE IN WOMEN'S BALLROOM

Apiarist Turns Out Swarm Before Club Members, but No Stings Follow.

Cleveland, O.—In the nursery story the queen sat in the parlor eating bread and honey, but even Mother Goose never saw 10,000 bees loose in a ballroom.

But the latter sight was seen recently when Ernest R. Root of Medina, bee and honey expert, shook out a swarm of bees into the white and gold ballroom of the Woman's club, this city, to show members of the club how easily the little honey makers may be handled if one knows how.

There were swift glances toward the door when Mr. Root proposed to open the little case that held the bees. "Don't be in the least afraid. They will not sting you even if they should happen to light on you," promised Mr. Root.

He scooped up a handful of the bees out of the thick, moving brown mass, put them in his hat, clapped his hat on his head and went on with his talk.

TWO BEDS REQUIRED FOR A GIANT BOY OF 15

Prisoner Measuring Six Feet Four Was Cause of Worry to New York Children's Society.

New York.—Children's society officials had all kinds of trouble with fifteen-year-old Theodore Olsen, who stands six feet four inches in his socks. This young giant had not been able to find a bed in the place that would fit him. He had been sleeping in two beds placed together, with the cover pieces out. Subterfuge had been discovered to make Theodore fit one of the children's bathtubs or to find one to fit him.

Olsen was arrested after he had called the janitor of an apartment house here to help him extinguish a blaze that he admits he started in the dumbwaiter shaft. He says he had started five similar fires in the upper west side, but had always extinguished them himself, because his desire was not to see the engines dash by, but just to see the blaze.

Theodore left school because of the embarrassment caused by his abnormal size. He became a delivery boy for a grocer, and he says that after delivering an order on the dumbwaiter he would start a blaze at the bottom of the shaft among the old papers and other waste that he frequently found there. Theodore lives with his parents in this city.

MAY BOYCOTT A DEADBEAT.

Merchants of Topeka, Kan., Plan to Organize For That Purpose.

Topeka, Kan.—Attorney General S. M. Brewster has announced a ruling that the merchants of a city or the state could form a trust or order a boycott against the deadbeat. The Topeka merchants have worked out a scheme whereby each merchant is to make a report monthly of his customers who do not pay regularly or have not satisfactorily adjusted their accounts.

These reports are then to be forwarded to every other merchant in the local association, and they are to refuse credit to any of those on the blacklist.

There are some lawyers who have held that the merchants could not form an association to boycott the deadbeat without violating the anti-trust laws. The plan of the Topeka organization was submitted to the attorney general, and he has advised the merchants that such an organization would be legal.

CATTLE FEAR DOG.

Herd Ran Over a Horse and Buggy In Their Terror.

Arlington, Ky.—E. W. Benson of Bardwell had a novel experience the other day. While driving along the road out of Barlow, Mr. Benson saw a herd of yearlings ahead of him turn into a lane. In a few seconds he also noticed a dog sneaking in the direction of the cattle.

The dog made a dive for the herd, and they made a run for the road, arriving there just as Mr. Benson drove up, and the cattle ran over the horse and buggy, knocked the horse down and came near turning the buggy over. In their mad haste to get away from the dog one of the calves fell, going under the buggy. Mr. Benson says this is the first time he was ever run over by a herd of cattle.

HER BARE LEGS SHOCKED.

Stockingless Woman Almost Caused Riot in Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, O.—The eyes of downtown crowds in the fashionable shopping district almost popped out of their sockets at the sight of a richly dressed woman who stalked with limbs bared to the knees through the streets.

Police had to be called to disperse the crowd and rescue the woman. She refused her name.

Rat Carries Away Glasses.

Evansville, Ind.—John Stark, a merchant, struck at a rat in his stable, and his glasses fell in such a position that they formed a yoke in the path of the rat, into which it ran. The glasses stuck and the rat escaped into a hole, carrying Stark's favorite lenses. Stark dug into the hole, but found no trace of his glasses and is convinced they still are being carried by the rat.
